

USSC Group Making a Difference in the Community

Music event at the Gordon Early Literacy Center, Coatesville, PA

Exton, PA – USSC Group, (USSC), a manufacturer of custom seating and fire suppression products for the transit, military and first responder markets, dedicated a Day of Service at the Gordon Early Literacy Center in Coatesville on Friday, January 11, 2019. More than fifty team members were on hand to support the kids while they build their skills with music and arts and crafts to create a positive environment for the students, and have some fun.

The Day of Service is organized by United Way of Chester County to connect corporate and civic volunteers with community service projects. These projects help nonprofit organizations to offset their operating costs and direct more funds to program services.

“Working for the greater good is deeply ingrained in our culture. All year long, our team dedicates their time and talent, through a wide variety of activities, this is our second annual volunteer day at The Gordon Early Literacy Center,” said Joseph Mirabile, President and CEO, USSC Group. “I am very proud of our team and impressed by the dedication that everyone, especially our HR department showed throughout this wonderful day, we look forward to an ongoing partnership with the United Way of Chester County.”
