United Safety Acquires Allsalt Maritime

This acquisition will bring together United Safety's specialty in preventing serious injury and death using advanced Active and Semi Active suspension systems and blast mitigation seating for military with Allsalt's world class expertise in shock and vibration mitigation systems for marine applications.

EXTON, PA – United Safety, a global manufacturer of safety and survivability technology solutions, announced the acquisition of Allsalt Maritime closing on December 31st, 2022.

Allsalt Maritime, based in British Columbia, Canada, is best known for its Shoxs product line of impact-mitigation seating, protecting maritime military agencies and recreational boaters with configurable seating systems that absorb harmful shock and vibration resulting from wave impacts, since 2007. In 2019, the company introduced Kinetix, a shock-monitoring solution that captures wave impacts and delivers real-time data for maritime agencies to adopt a proactive strategy for crew safety and vessel health. Utilized across a spectrum of marine applications including military, commercial and recreational marine, Allsalt's seating can be found on vessels around the globe including the United States Navy, Royal Navy, Coast Guards and Special Forces.

"Becoming part of the United Safety family will pave the way for Allsalt products to be fitted to a wider range of boat styles and console configurations in response to the explosive adoption of suspension seating technology in the recreational channel" says Ray Cao, Allsalt CEO. "Safety as a core pillar, along with extensive experience in government and first responder customer bases, really made United Safety feel like the right partner to be able to bring our brand and our team to the next level of success."

United Safety has made several strategic acquisitions over the last few years to continue the exponential growth of its portfolio of product offerings that include the most innovative and reliable safety and survivability solutions its customers can trust to protect life and property. Joseph Mirabile, CEO & President of United Safety states, "the acquisition of Allsalt Maritime is one that has been in consideration for the better part of a decade, and I'm thrilled to welcome them to the United Safety family. As an organization that has been committed to protecting our armed forces on land, we are now proud to be able to protect soldiers at sea." Mirabile continues, "the alignment of Allsalt's technology, particularly the Kinetix technology, with our own commitment to occupational drivers and measuring and protecting against the harm that comes from full body vibration is truly unique and will result in some of the most sophisticated seating technology that exists in the world today. We are excited to be able to provide this extremely advanced and unique technology to a broader audience."

Allsalt Maritime will join Fireboy® - Xintex® as United Safety continues to grow its product offerings in the marine space.
